

Quick Overview

Dr Mamoon Rashid is a proud alumnus of UVAS, completed a DVM and MSc in Vety. Pathology in 1993 and 1996 respectively. He has completed his second postgraduate education as well as a Vety. Fellowship from USA. Presently he is serving as a Veterinary Pathologist at, Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, State of Florida. Dr Rashid has gathered a diverse expertise and knowledge base through working twenty plus years for the animal industries of the developing as well as the developed countries such as Canada and the United States. He has been a keynote speaker and presented at several national and international animal industry and producer education seminars and events. While wearing a different hat Dr Rashid has also been a technical advisor to the ministers and the secretaries in North America to provide an input to develop policies for the animal industry. He has written several scientist articles, contributed in the national standards (books), provided interviews to the media, and wrote many factsheets for livestock producer education. Veterinary Pathology, sustainable ruminant production, and public policy are few of the Dr Rashid's key specialties.